EYES OF THE WORLD

Now Centered on the Republican Convention.

WHO WILL THEIR LEADERS BE.

The Question Not Yet Settled Although the Delegates Hold an Almost Whole Night's Session—Several Test Votes Taken but the Presidential Balloting Has Not Yet Begun—The Platform Adopted.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10.—The delegates to the national Republican convention were slow in assembling. At 11 o'clock perhaps three-fourths of the delegates were in their seats or in the aisles but the galleries were not half full.

At 11:22 Chairman McKinley, with a number of surrounding blows of the new gavel, endeavored to call the convention to order; but it was some minutes before the buzz of conversation ceased and the delegates took their seats and gave their attention to business.

Rev. Mr. Brush, D.D., chancellor of the University of South Dakota, delivered the opening prayer.

After the conclusion of the prayer the chair said the regular order was the report of the committee on credentials.

Mr. Cogswell was recognized and said: "The committee on credentials is still in session. It has been diligently at work and has achieved reasonable success. It hopes to be able to report tonight at 8 o'clock, and asks further time."

General Sewell, of New Jersey, was immediately on his feet. Since no business could be done until the committee was ready to report, he moved that the convention take a recess until 8 o'clock.

Before the motion was put a world's fair resolution, asking congress to support the great exhibition liberally, was introduced and referred to the committee on resolutions.

Mr. Robert, of Illinois, presented a resolution which was referred, providing that Grand Army men be admitted to standing room, and that if any seats were vacant thirty minutes after the convention was called to order they should be allowed to occupy them. The resolution was received with applause.

The chairman then announced that the question was on the motion to take a recess. There were cries of "No!" from all over the hall coupled with cries of "Ingalls!" but in the confusion the chairman put the motion and declared it carried.

A New York delegate called for a division. It was evident as the ayes stood up that the motion was carried. The clerk, however, made the count religiously. When the noes arose the opponents of the recess waved their arms to call their friends to their feet, but the effort was useless. The chairman announced the vote as 407 to 260, and at 11:44 declared that the convention take a recess until 8 o'clock at night.

EVENING SESSION.

The Most Important Work of the Convention Accomplished.

MINNEAPOLIS, June 10.—When the delegates began to arrive for the evening session they found that a thoughtful Chicago newspaper man had put Japanese fans in their seats. This consideration was much appreciated because with less than 10 per cent. of the seats occupied at 8 o'clock, the temperature was so high as to make ordinary clothing uncomfortable. The means of ventilating the hall are none too perfect. There are no windows, and only the doorways give ingress and a dozen transoms egress to the air. So all over the hall there was fluttering of white-like butterflies settling on a field of clover.

Chairman McKinley was in his seat early. He sat fanning himself with vigor, looking about the hall and waiting until there were enough delegates in their places to warrant him in bringing his gavel down and calling the convention to order. Warner Miller came upon the platform and sat beside the chairman. There was no clerical figure in view for the prayer was to be dispensed with, but the distinguished form and face of the veteran Republican editor, Mr. Halstead, were prominent in the seat in which Dr. Brush sat in the morning. There was no prayer in the order of the evening's business. Dr. Brush was supposed to have opened the convention for the entire day.

Ten minutes after 8 o'clock the delegates began to come in at a more lively rate, and five minutes later when the band struck up "Dixie," the delegates were all in their seats.

It was 8:52 when Chairman McKinley brought down his gavel. Channcey Depew was on his feet instantly to announce the eighty-third birthday of Colonel Dick Thompson, of Indiana. He did it in a neatly turned speech, as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN—I rise to a question of privilege, not high privilege, but present privilege. We have present here among our number a delegate who has been a delegate to every national convention of the Republican party since its inauguration, who has voted for every president of the United States for the last sixty years, and who has served with distinction in the cabinet, who is to-day eighty-three years of age and is in full physical vigor. While England claims so much for Mr. Gladstone, because he is eighty-two, America claim that for Colonel Dick Thompson, of Indiana. We hope he will round his century and attend during the intervening period every convention of the Republican party. I move that the congratulations of the convention be extended to Colonel Thompson.

Mr. Griffin, of Indiana, seconded the motion. The chairman called for the ayes and without mentioning the "noes" declared the motion carried. There was a round of laughter at this. Colonel Thompson rose while the convention cheered. Mr. Depew went quickly down the aisle and took one of Mr. Thompson's arms. A. C. Dawes, of St. Joseph, Mo., took the other and together they escorted him to the platform.

Mr. Thompson said it made him young again to look about the convention. He was not half eighty-three for he was stimulated by an undaunted Republican spirit and by the belief that that party was to rule the country for years and years to come. He had learned his Republicanism from revolutionary ancestry. They had taught him that the first principle of Republicanism was to look after the interests of the people. They were here, he said, to lay the foundation of another triumph. He would not enter into a discussion of political questions now. He rose to express his thanks and to promise them he would meet them here or elsewhere four years hence. He had passed through fifteen presidential campaigns. His first vote for president was cast for Henry Clay, that great protectionist, and he hoped that the time would come when the country would vindicate the bill, "which bears the name of the chairman of the convention."

At this point, the electric lights went out, after a minute's flickering, leaving the speaker hardly distinguishable in the darkness, which was barely relieved by the glow from some fifty gas jets in the gallery. The lights blazed up again in a minute and Mr. Thompson finished his remarks briefly at a eulogy of the McKinley bill.

The chairman said that if there was no objection he would recognize the chairman of the committee on rules to present a new resolution. Chairman Bingham came forward and read a resolution providing that Grand Army veterans should be admitted to the hall and vacant seats. It was adopted without a dissenting voice.

Mr. Carter, of Pennsylvania, was recognized and sent to the desk a communication from Titusville, which, by unanimous consent, was read. It stated: "Our citizens earnestly request us to have you notify the people of the country, through public announcement in our convention, of the terrible loss of life and suffering from flood and fire at Oil City and Titusville. The accounts of the convention have so engrossed public attention that the full extent of the calamity will not be appreciated unless public attention is directed to it in some significant way." The letter was received without action.

Then the chairman announced the regular order of business to be the report from the committee on credentials. Chairman Cogswell took the platform and stated that he was not prepared with a written report, but if the convention wished he would make a verbal report. He understood that the minority was ready to report.

Mr. Wallace, of New York, said he had a partial report from the minority which he sent to the clerk's desk. Mr. Lockwood, of Idaho, asked some questions which brought an explanation from the chairman; when his curiosity was satisfied, the chairman asked if there was objection to the reception of a verbal report from the committee. No objection was heard, and Mr. Cogswell, holding in his hand a memorandum sheet, began to announce the action of the committee.

Mr. Cogswell dictated to the convention his report, as follows:

The committee on credentials considered the list of uncontested delegates and has had twenty-four different contested cases. It recommends that the uncontested list submitted by the national committee of the temporary organization be accepted as the list of duly credited delegates and alternates, except the cases to be hereafter mentioned.

In the matter of contest in the Eighth Alabama district your committee find for the sitting members and recommend that they be allowed to retain their seats. The same report is made in the Third Alabama, Fourth Alabama, and as to the contest for delegates-at-large from Alabama, your committee recommends that the contestants, Messrs. Noble, Smith, Dorsett and McEwen, be given seats. In the Fifth Alabama contests, the committee finds in favor of the sitting members. The contest of the Ninth Alabama, the committee recommends that Messrs. Houston and Matthews be seated.

As to the contest in the sixth Kentucky they recommend that the contestants, Messrs. Matthews and Winstle, be given seats.

As to the contest in Louisiana, as to delegates-at-large your committee find in favor of the sitting members. As to the contest in the First Louisiana district, the committee finds for the contestants, Messrs. Booth and Lewis, and recommend that they be seated. As to the contest in the Second Louisiana district, your committee find for the sitting members.

The same finding in the Fourth Louisiana district. In the Sixth Louisiana district the committee find for Messrs. Donato and Brough, the contestants and recommend that they be given seats.

In the Fourth district of Maryland the committee recommend that the contestants, Messrs. Supplee and Cummings, be seated.

In the contest in Mississippi on the delegates-at-large, the committee recommend as does the national committee that the regular delegates and contestants both be seated with the right of half a vote each. As to the Seventh Mississippi district the committee find for the sitting members.

The contest in South Carolina, of delegates-at-large, the committee find in favor of the sitting members.

In the contest in the Fourth North Carolina district the committee recommend that Mr. Nichols, the contestant, be seated in the place of Mr. Williamson, the sitting member. In the Sixth North Carolina district the committee find in favor of the sitting member. In the Seventh North Carolina district the committee recommend that Messrs. Walser and Bailey and Mott be seated with the right of two-thirds of a vote each.

In the state of Texas in the Sixth district and in all the contests the committee find in favor of the sitting members. In the district of Columbia the committee find for the sitting members.

In the territory of Utah the committee recommend that the sitting members and the contestants, Messrs. Goodwin and Warren, be seated with the right of half a vote each. The members of the committee, Mr. Saulsbury, of Utah, desires that I should note his dissent to the action of the committee in the last case.

"I am authorized to report from the committee that the committee shall decide that if Indian Territory or Alaska is entitled to seats in this convention it will be able at any time to report on those who propose to be delegates from those respective territories. All of which is respectfully submitted. Majority of the committee by its chairman."

The minority report which was read by the clerk, touched only on the Alabama cases, in which it reverses the finding of the majority.

Mr. Cogswell moved the adoption of the majority report, and a spirited debate ensued, participated in by Filley of Missouri, Knight of California, Beath of Illinois, Wolcott of Colorado, Hart of West Virginia, Duffield of Michigan, Clayton of Arkansas, Cannon of Utah, Depew of New York, Miller of New York, and Chairman Cogswell, who moved the previous question.

The demand for the previous question was carried viva voce, and a vote was then taken on the first question in dispute—that of seating the uncontested Alabama delegates. It was voted that they be seated. The question was then on the minority report of the committee and the chair being in doubt upon a viva voce vote, a roll call was ordered.

Alabama cast 15 votes aye, 5 no. Then Arkansas was called and cast her vote 15 to 1. Mr. McComas got the floor and demanded to know if the contested seats in Alabama were voting. Mr. Hiscock insisted on the same point. The chair announced that the vote had been passed. Mr. Depew got the floor and challenged the vote of Alabama. The chairman said slowly that there should be no technical suiting in so important a case. As he understood every delegate seated by the national committee was entitled to enjoy the privilege of this convention until unseated by a majority of votes. These gentlemen had not been unseated. But a question, serious, perhaps, the chairman continued, was whether a chairman should vote in his own case. On that the delegate was much embarrassed.

Mr. McKinley then quoted from Rule 8 from the Fifty-first congress which provided that a member should vote on a question unless excused or "unless he had personal or pecuniary" interest in it. Mr. Mills, of Virginia, suggested that the point of order was taken too late, other observance having intervened. The chair then said in a matter so important to the integrity of the proceedings he did not think a technical point of this kind should be made. Here there were calls for Ingalls to unravel the parliamentary tangle at which Mr. Ingalls smiled.

Mr. Spooner, of Wisconsin, appealed to the principle that no man could be a judge in his own case. Mr. Fassett, of New York, said if the position taken were correct then the proceedings of any convention could be thrown into confusion by a band of conspirators making a contest in each delegation. A national tribunal had been organized as the supreme tribunal for the calling of the roll until all contests were settled and all those names on the roll were entitled to vote.

Mr. Austin, of Alabama, said he only desired justice and he would withdraw the votes of the four delegates-at-large.

Mr. Baird, of Illinois, said he had voted in favor of the minority report, but if he was to be crowded in this way, he should ask to change his vote.

Mr. Wolcott, of Colorado, called the attention of the chair to the fact that the delegate from Alabama had offered to withdraw the four votes in question.

The chair said as he understood it there were six votes involved.

Mr. Austin, amidst applause, said he would withdraw the whole six.

The chairman decided that Alabama should be counted. Other states were then called. There was great excitement as the vote progressed and every other man in the hall was keeping a tally slip. To add to the confusion the electric lights failed, leaving only a few gas jets burning. The band struck up "We Won't Go Home Till Morning," and every one laughed.

At length the roll call proceeded, amid objections and demands for roll calls of various states. The convention grew impatient, but the chair acceded to the demands as being in accordance with the rules. As the vote proceeded it was noticed that the nay vote, which favored Harrison, corresponded very closely with the claims made by the president's supporters, and the administration men began to cheer. Finally the result was announced—yeas, 423 1-2, nays 463, and a great cheer went up for Harrison. It was the first great fight of the convention and the president's party had won.

The Blaine men scented danger in the air and a motion was made to adjourn, but it was defeated—ayes 271, nays 372. The Harrisonites were flushed with victory and wanted to make hay while the sun shone. Mr. Depew moved the adoption of the majority report of the credentials committee, and on a rising vote it seemed to have carried, but Quay, seconded by Platt, demanded a roll call which was accordingly begun.

The spectators, however, were getting tired and sleepy, and before the roll call was completed the galleries were almost empty.

Before the vote (476 to 365) was announced, the convention, on motion of Mr. Shepard, of New York, passed a resolution authorizing the secretary to receive contributions for the Titusville sufferers.

Mr. Foraker, chairman of the committee on resolutions, was then given unanimous consent to read the platform, which was received with great enthusiasm and adopted.

The convention at 1:27, on motion of Mr. Depew, adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning.

THE PLATFORM.

Full Report of the Committee on Resolutions.

The representatives of the Republicans of the United States assembled in general convention on the shores of the Mississippi river, the everlasting bond of an indestructible republic, whose most glorious chapter of history is the record of the Republican party, congratulate their countrymen on the majestic march of the nation under the banners inscribed with the principles of our platform of 1888, vindicated by victory at the polls and prosperity in our fields, workshops and mines, and make the following declaration of principles:

The Tariff.

We reaffirm the American doctrine of protection. We call attention to its growth abroad. We maintain that the prosperous condition of our country is largely due to the wise revenue legislation of the Republican congress.

We believe that all articles which can not be produced in the United States except luxuries, should be admitted free of duty, and that on all imports coming into competition with the products of American labor, there should be duties made equal to the difference between wages abroad and at home; we assert that the prices of manufactured articles of general consumption have been reduced under the operations of the tariff act of 1890. We denounce the efforts of the Democratic majority of the house to destroy our tariff laws by peaceable means as manifested by their attacks on wool, lead and lead ore, and we ask the people for their judgment thereon.

We point to the success of the Republican policy of reciprocity under which export trade has vastly increased and new and enlarged markets have been opened for the products of our farms and workshops. We remind the people of the bitter opposition of the Democratic party to this practical business measure and claim that, executed by a Republican administration, our present laws will eventually give us control of the trade of the world.

Silver.

The American people from tradition and interest favor bi-metalism, and the Republican party demands the use of both gold and silver as standard money, with such restrictions and under such provisions, to be determined by contemplation of values of the two metals, so that the purchasing and debt paying power of the dollar, whether of silver, gold or paper, shall be at all times equal.

The interests of the producers of the country, its farmers and its workmen, demand that every dollar, paper or gold, issued by the government, shall be as good as any other. We commend the wise and patriotic steps already taken by our government, to secure an international conference, to adopt such measures as will insure a parity of value between gold and silver for use as money throughout the world.

Elections.

We demand that every citizen of the United States shall be allowed to cast one free and unrestricted ballot in all public elections, and that such ballots shall be counted and returned as cast; that such laws shall be enacted and enforced as will secure to every citizen, be he rich or poor, native or foreign born, white or black, this sovereign right, guaranteed by the constitution, the free and honest popular ballot; the just and equal representation of all the people as well as the just and equal protection under the laws as the foundation of our republican institutions, and the party will never relax its efforts until the integrity of the ballot and the purity of the elections shall be fully guaranteed and protected in every state.

Southern Outrages.

We denounce the continued inhuman outrages perpetrated upon American citizens for political reasons in certain states of the Union.

Miscellaneous.

We favor efficient legislation by congress to protect the life and limbs of employees of the railroad companies engaged in carrying interstate commerce, and recommend legislation by the respective states that will protect employees engaged in interstate commerce, in mining, and in manufacturing.

The Republican party has always been the champion of the oppressed, and recognizes the dignity of manhood, irrespective of faith, color or nationality. It sympathizes with the cause of home rule in Ireland and protests against the persecution of the Jews in Russia.

Foreign Relations.

We favor the extension of our foreign commerce; the restoration of our mercantile marine by home-built ships, and the construction of a navy for the protection of our national interests and the honor of our flag; the maintenance of the most friendly relations with all foreign powers; entangling alliance with none, and the protection of the rights of our fishermen. We reaffirm our approval of the Monroe doctrine, and believe in the achievement of the manifest destiny of the republic in its broadest sense. We favor the enforcement of more stringent laws and regulations for the restriction of criminal pauper and contract immigration.

We declare anew our devotion to liberty of thought and conscience, of speech, of press, and approve all agencies and instrumentalities which contribute to the education of the children of the land, but while insisting upon the fullest measure of religious liberty we are opposed to any union of church and state.

We reaffirm our opposition, declared in the Republican platform of 1888, to all combinations of capital, organized to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens. We heartily endorse the action taken on this issue, and ask for such further legislation as may be required to remedy any defects in existing laws, and to render their enforcement more complete and effective.

We approve the policy of extending to towns and rural communities the advantage of the free delivery services now enjoyed by the large cities of the country and reaffirm the declaration contained in the Republican platform of '88 pledging the reduction of letter postage to one cent at the earliest possible moment.

Civil Service.

We commend the spirit and evidence of reform in the civil service and the wise and consistent enforcement by the Republican party of the laws relating to the same.

Nicaragua Canal.

The construction of the Nicaragua canal is one of the highest importance to the American people, both as a measure of national defense and to build up and maintain American commerce, and it should be controlled by the United States government.

Territories.

We favor the admission of the remaining territories at the earliest possible moment, having due regard to the interests of the people of the territories and for the United States. All the federal office holders appointed in the territories should be selected from the residents thereof, and the right of self-government should be accorded as far as possible.

Arid Lands.

We favor the cession, subject to the homestead laws of the arid public lands, to the states and territories in which they lie, under such congressional restrictions as to disposition, reclamation and occupancy as settlers will secure the maximum benefits to the people.

The Columbian Exposition.

The world's Columbian exposition is a great national undertaking and congress should promptly enact such reasonable legislation in aid thereof as will insure a discharge of the expenses and obligations incident thereto, and the attainment of results commensurate with the dignity and progress of the nation.

Intemperance.

We sympathize with all wise and legitimate efforts to lessen and prevent the evils of intemperance and promote morality.

Pensions.

Ever mindful of the services and sacrifices of the men who saved the life of the nation, we pledge anew to the veteran soldiers of the republic a watchful care and recognition of their just claims upon a grateful people.

Harrison's Administration.

We commend the able, patriotic and thoroughly American administration of President Harrison. Under it the country has enjoyed remarkable prosperity and the dignity and honor of the nation, at home and abroad, have been faithfully maintained, and we offer the record of pledges kept and a guarantee of faithful performance in the future.

SIDNEY DILLON DEAD.

His Demise Not a Surprise, as He Had Been Ill for Weeks.

NEW YORK, June 10.—Sidney Dillon died at 11:10 o'clock yesterday at his residence, 23 West Fifty-seventh street, where he had been lying ill for several weeks.

Sidney Dillon was born eighty years ago in Northampton, Montgomery county, N. Y., of parents recently from Ireland, and very poor. When seven years old Dillon found work as water boy on the first railroad ever constructed. His salary was $1 per week, and he saved part of it, and kept on saving all his life. He became overseer for railroad contractors, and then a contractor himself, and as such helped build the Union Pacific railroad, of which he afterwards became president. At one time he was worth $5,000,000, but lost about half of that when Union Pacific went down in 1884. He was a director of most of the principal railroads of the country.

Sixty-Four Cases of Smallpox.

POMEROY, O., June 10.—Two deaths resulted from smallpox Wednesday, and one new case has been reported. There are now sixty-four cases in this vicinity.

Don't Practice What They Preach.

Governor McKinley in his speech assuming charge of the Minneapolis meeting said that Republican conventions "mean what they say and say what they mean."

That remark will be taken up and repeated by every cross-roads politician of the G. O. P. persuasion in the country, although the facts are just the other way, as may be seen from what follows.

The Courier-Journal says Mr. McKinley prepared the Republican platform of 1888. In that platform the Republican party pledged itself to a policy which "would check imports." But imports are larger to-day than when the pledge was given.

The same platform promised to abolish the whisky tax "rather than surrender any part of the system of protection." The whisky tax remains, but the sugar tax, which was a large "part of the system of protection," has been reduced to small proportions, and the Republican leaders are boasting of an enlarged free list.

The Republican platform four years ago promised a reduction of postage to one cent, but two cents is required to-day to carry a letter to Minneapolis protesting against Blaine's nomination.

Continuing, Mr. McKinley said: "We are for protection, and we are for reciprocity." But protection is meant to "check imports," pertinently remarks the Courier-Journal, while reciprocity is devised for the purpose of enlarging our markets. The success of one is destruction of the other.

Growing warm in his language, Governor McKinley said: "We do not believe in taxing ourselves as long as we can find anybody else to tax." But if a tax on imports is not a tax on ourselves, why did Mr. McKinley reduce the tax on imports $50,000,000? inquires the Courier-Journal. If the foreigner pays the tariff, what folly to abolish the sugar tax.

It is very evident "Republican conventions don't always mean what they say, and say what they mean."

The latest news from Minneapolis has a decided Harrisonian tinge, but the numerous rows and wrangles reported are an index to the bitter feeling between his followers and the Blaine crowd that bodes no good to the nominee, whoever he may be.

It is announced that Kentucky's tobacco display at the World's Fair will excel anything of the kind ever attempted. And why shouldn't it? A State that produces most of the tobacco of the country should certainly take first rank in every National display of the weed.

SCHOOL TAXATION.

An Important Case Decided by the Superior Court at Frankfort This Week.

A special to the Courier-Journal says a decision by the Superior Court in the case of A. W. Cromwell vs. trustees of common school district 44, in Franklin County, determines a question of taxation of interest to nearly all the school districts in the State.

The trustees levied a tax for the repairs on the district school building, and the taxpayers opposing it sued out a writ of injunction to prevent the collection of the tax on the ground that there was no assessment of the property in the district for taxation; that the title to the school site was not in the name of the trustees, and that the levy was excessive.

The lower court sustained a demurrer to the petition and dismissed the petition, and on an appeal of the taxpayers, the case was assigned to the docket of the Court of Appeals where it was decided in favor of the trustees, and this opinion was afterward withdrawn and the case referred to the Superior Court. Judge Barbour, of the Superior Court, holds substantially the same views taken of the case by the Court of Appeals, deciding in the favor of the trustees: that the tax levy did not exceed the limit authorized by law; that it was not necessary that the title should be in the name of the trustees in order to levy a tax for repairs, as cases may arise in the interests of districts where school buildings may be rented or leased and repairs be made at the expense of the district, and, lastly, the regular assessment made by the County Assessor for State and county taxes was a sufficient assessment in law for the purpose required.

Death of Rev. Edward L. Metz.

Rev. Edward L. Metz, of Dover, died Wednesday at Glen Mary, Tenn., of consumption. He had been ill ever since his graduation a few years ago from the Bible College at Lexington, and went to Tennessee not long since in hopes of receiving some benefit from the change of climate. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Metz, and was pastor of the Christian Church on Lawrence Creek for a time. His remains were brought to Dover yesterday for burial.

Emile Zola's Working Hours.

Emile Zola's habits are extremely regular. He takes a walk every morning, usually leaving his house, whether at Medan or at Paris, about 9 o'clock. He lunches at midday, and writes from 1 o'clock till 6, receiving no visitors and transacting no business in the afternoon. He has a particular liking for large and massive pieces of furniture, so his writing table and his library chairs are of colossal proportions, as is also his inkstand, which is in bronze and represents a lion.—Paris Cor. Philadelphia Telegraph.

What Pain Do Animals Feel?

When the sensitiveness to pain of the negro, compared with that of the European, is but one to three, as Dr. Felkin concludes it is, what relation to the latter is borne by the sensitiveness of the monkey? of the bird? of the reptile and the fish? of creatures lower still?—London Sunday Magazine?

An Automatic Applauder.

A Frenchman has perfected an invention by which managers of theaters can ascertain on first nights, in a practical manner, the feelings of the public. The contrivance is an automatic applauder, set in motion by a five centime piece.—New York Journal.

The irregularity of Maine's coast line is indicated by the fact that a Lubec man who bought a horse in Eastport was obliged to drive the animal more than forty miles to reach his home, although the two towns are only three miles apart in a straight line.

To the Eskimos of Labrador belong the honor of having discovered that the moon was the paradise of the good, and that the wicked are to be consigned to a cold cave in the center of the earth.

ROLL OF HONOR.

Fourteen Pupils at Hayswood on the List—The Closing Exercises. Other Matters.

A large crowd attended the closing exercises at Hayswood Seminary last night. Every seat was occupied, and many of the late arrivals had to content themselves with standing room.

The temporary stage in the Chapel, where the exercises were held, was very prettily decorated with flowers. The entertainment was in charge of Miss Maria L. Spears, the accomplished teacher of music, who was kindly assisted by Miss Katie Blatterman. The programme published yesterday was rendered. The pupils acquitted themselves with much credit, and the evening was passed very pleasantly.

The following is the roll of honor for the school year which closed last night. In order to secure a position on this roll the pupil must have a general average in deportment, attendance and recitations of at least 95 per cent. and these are the names of those reaching this high standard:

COLLEGIATE DEPARTMENT.

Miss Florence Barkley, Maysville.
Miss M. Hortense Davis, Helena.
Miss Mary A. Finch, Maysville.

PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

Mary Hall, Maysville.
Mary Mebane, Maysville.
Mary Mitchell, Maysville.
Nettie Smith, Maysville.
Grace Smith, Cincinnati.
Florence Smith, Cincinnati.
Carrie Shackelford, Maysville.

Miss Maude Downing, of this county, received special mention for a regularity in attendance which the State or county is challenged to surpass. For the second time she traveled ten miles every school day of the year and never missed a single roll call.

As showing the steady and conscientious work of the teachers it was stated by the Principal that, during the entire year, only one teacher had failed to be present at the recitation of her class and she but a single day and that from illness.

HOUSE AND SENATE.

Proceedings of Both Branches of Congress.

A NUMBER OF BILLS PASSED.

All the Business Done in the Lower House While the Senate Was Too Much Interested in the Minneapolis Convention to Do Anything.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The day was given to the committee on the judiciary, who occupied over five hours in discussing measures on the calendar. The discussion was dry and technical, but little interest was manifested in the proceedings. Among the bills passed were: Providing that a poor person who may sue in the United States courts shall not be required to give security for costs, and permitting the court assign counsel in such cases; punishing killing committed in any place under United States jurisdiction, by death; murder in second degree by life imprisonment of not less than ten years; and manslaughter by imprisonment of not less than one nor more than twenty years; repealing the statute requiring every farmer and planter producing and selling leaf tobacco to furnish a statement of sales and the names of persons purchasing the tobacco; authorizing heads of departments, courts, judges, officers, boards, or bodies executive, legislative, or judicial, required to approve or accept any recognition, stipulation, bond, or undertaking required or permitted to be given under the laws of the United States, to accept securities therefor or guarantors thereof of corporations incorporated under the laws of the United States or of any state having power to guarantee the fidelity of persons holding positions of public trust, and to execute and guarantee bonds and undertakings in judicial proceedings. The house then adjourned.

The absence of so many Republican senators at Minneapolis and the political excitement in the air had the effect of causing the senate to adjourn until Monday next after a session lasting an hour and a quarter. Messrs. Morgan and Jones, of Arkansas, delivered remarks on the subject of free coinage and the pension deficiency bill was passed. No other business was transacted.

HILL'S POSITION.

He Authorizes His Name to Be Withdrawn from the Convention.

NEW YORK, June 10.—The Times prints the following this morning from Troy, N. Y.: "There is in existence a letter signed by Secretary David B. Hill, authorizing the withdrawal of his name from all further consideration by the Democracy, state and national, whenever, in the opinion and discretion of Richard Croker, Hugh McLaughlin and Edward Murphy, Jr., and W. F. Sheehan such a step should be taken."

"That letter is in this city at this moment. It is in the safe of Edward Murphy, Jr., chairman of the Democratic state committee."

There will be nasty and perhaps angry denials of the above statements, but they are based upon information which The Times has taken pains to verify, and which is believed to be absolutely reliable.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION.

Failing in This a Kentuckian Blows His Own Head Off.

MOUNT STERLING, Ky., June 10.—George McCormick, a deputy sheriff, waited Wednesday night concealed in a blacksmith shop in Carnago, four miles from here, for his brother-in-law, Dr. J. B. Spratt, to return from a professional call. As Spratt passed McCormick fired at him, but missed his aim.

McCormick then went to his brother Alex McCormick's house and remained until yesterday. Going home, he went by a barn and stopped. Placing the muzzle of a gun to his head, with the breach on the ground, he touched the trigger with a tobacco stick and blew the top of his head entirely off, killing himself instantly. McCormick and Spratt were intimate friends, and no cause but insanity can be assigned for his actions.

Asking Heavy Damages.

CHICAGO, June 10.—Mrs. Jessie Hale, a former actress, whose stage name was Dorothea Lewis Hale, has filed in the superior court here a suit to recover $950,000 for breach of promise to marry from James W. Paige. The defendant is the manufacturer of the "Paige" typesetting machine and is a citizen of Hartford, where he is reputed to be worth $2,000,000 or $3,000,000. It is alleged that Mrs. Hale left the stage and lived in Hartford for a year or more as the wife of the manufacturer.

Oil Tanks Set on Fire.

FINDLAY, O. June 10.—Five Standard Oil company tanks each holding 36,000 barrels of oil, were struck by lightning yesterday. Fifty other tanks were in close proximity and for a time it was feared that all would be ignited. Cannons were procured, holes shot in the tanks near the bottom thus preventing the oil running over. By this means the other tanks were saved. The loss will reach $55,000.

Deadlock Unbroken.

NEW ORLEANS, June 10.—The deadlock in the legislature over the senatorial question underwent no material change yesterday, the ballot varying but one vote less for each of the candidates than they received the previous day. It would be no surprise now if a break were to come, and an election follow at any moment, though when it will come no one can say with any degree of certainty.

Two Deaths from Lightning.

IRONTON, O., June 10.—Mrs. Helen Hardy and her sister, Mrs. Daniel Ratcliff, of Little Ice creek, were sitting in a room with the children yesterday afternoon during a heavy storm, when a bolt of lightning struck the house. It ran down the chimney, striking Mrs. Hardy and Eddy Ratcliff and killing them instantly, and not moving them from the chairs.

HOTELS MUST COME TO IT.

Mr. Merrifield Tells of Funny Things About Future Hotel Keeping.

"The day will come, and long before we date our letters 1919, when the hotels in this country will have improvements which will make the guests feel that they have nothing to find fault with. Certainly that will be a great period—a surprising one to the much abused hotel keeper."

E. L. Merrifield, president of the Hotel Keepers' association, looked very serious as he uttered these words, "What will those improvements be? Many, very many; but just now I will mention only one or two, lest some hotels begin the new styles before people are used to the change from one system to another. Here's one, for instance: The hotels will be so big in a few years that when a guest gets up, say on the twenty-ninth floor, he'll find as he steps out of the elevator that his room is a quarter of a mile away, counting all the halls and corners he'll have to travel through before he gets there."

"Well, the halls will be broad, and electric cars, light and airy as wicker baskets, will pass along every few minutes. All he will have to do when he gets on his floor is to press a button—the car will do the rest. It will whiz down his way with the conductor at the wheel like any cable car outdoors at present, pick him up and—he's in his room before he's had time to say Jack Robinson."

"You smile. I don't, for I'm serious. More than that, hotels will probably have private elevators for every large parlor room on top floors after the electric car gets 'behind the age.'"

"Take space? Of course. But what of that? The hotel keeper is supposed to be the only man who must spend all he makes to benefit his guests. He does not work for a living, like ordinary men. Not he; his fate from boyhood is mapped out to do everything he can to make others happy at his expense. But to resume. The private elevator of each room will be soon followed if not accompanied by pneumatic tubes for trunks and baby carriages with the babies in them, and smaller ones for letters and bundles."

"More than that. A visitor will, I feel certain, be shot up through the tubes after the guests have seen their cards and piped down, 'All right, send him up.' It will be very stagelike to see an apparent closet door fly open quickly and the friend of your better days in full dress and hat in hand step out as one does in and out of a carriage in the street and greet you with a smile, 'How are you, old man?' or words to that effect."

"Then think of the way overtaxed tailors can be avoided, too, by their customers among the guests who have 'forgotten' to settle up. How? Easily. There will be no hotel registry, for the moment a guest is assigned to a room he will probably walk up to a machine, rattle over a few keys with a pen while writing his name, and just as he signs it it will appear on a card on the inside of the proprietor's private office. Names are signed miles away now by wire or dispatches. Well, hotel men are close at hand in this signature business. I hope to live long enough to see all the improvements."

Mr. Merrifield's eyes twinkled as he concluded: "When the Hotel Keepers' association meets one of these great improvements is to be tested. Which one it will be I don't know yet, but that the electric car in the hallways is a near future event in hotel improvements is a dead certainty."—New York Herald.

BREAD AND WATER.

This Is All the Tennessee Miners Have to Eat.

NASHVILLE, June 10.—The miners in the coal and iron valley are starving by inches. The situation is horrible, and for days the hardy pioneers have existed only on bread and water. These rebelled against the working of convicts in their region, and the state sent an army which has been standing in the valley for five months past.

It is said that unless the state helps them during the dry spell, scores of them will actually perish for want of food.

Hundreds of the miners have been idle for five months, and no other way is afforded them of making a living and they are unable to move their families. Petitions for aid are being sent abroad.

Seven Years for Manslaughter.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 10.—In the case of Gambler Burton, who has been on trial several days for the brutal killing of Samuel Clayton, the jury returned a verdict finding Burton guilty of manslaughter and fixing his punishment at seven years in the penitentiary. The prisoner was as pale as a sheet and was evidently very much surprised at the verdict. Clayton was knocked down stairs with a billiard cue by Burton and died from his injuries.

By "free silver" is meant the free coinage of silver, the placing of silver on an equality with gold in the mints of the United States. At present any man who has gold can get it coined without charge; but a man who has silver bullion must sell it to the government, which coins it or issues certificates against it.—New York Sun.
